

Professional legal services are the underpinning of most successful estate planning strategies.

You can gain more control over your assets during your lifetime and permit the transfer of wealth to individuals or institutions of your choice. Our legal services can create an estate plan for the supervision of your property during life, as well as how that property should be distributed at death.

These services also address those special issues that may confront an individual; such as providing financial security for family and friends, planning for children of a prior marriage, equalizing inheritances fairly, and retiring from a business.

By coordinating your estate planning requirements through S.P. Parkin & Co., you don't have to work with an attorney who is not part of your financial services planning circle. We will match up the right legal relationship with the plan we're implementing for you.
